Not illustrated. 1822 Excerpt: . me to send you the following details: Sandt, the assassin of Kotzebue, was executed this morning at five o'clock. So early as half past three o'clock the infantry and cavalry, and almost the whole population of Manheim, were in motion. Sandt was brought from the prison in an open carriage. His countenance, which was pale, had in it something extraordinary. A smile was on his lips; and he went to meet death as we should go to a fete. He bowed with much grace to some ladies who were at a window, and who returned his salutation with very evident marks of interest. When he reached the place of execution, which was on a very large plain, he mounted the scaffold immediately; his sentence was read to him; after which he made a speech. Not understanding German I cannot communicate to you what he said. I observed, however, that he spoke with energy, and at the end raised one of his hands towards heaven. The executioner took hold of him, and made him sit down on a chair, fastened to a small post. He tied both his hands, cut off some of his hair, and put a bandage over his eyes. In two minutes after he was no more. All the preparations for the execution were made very slowly; 20 minutes were employed, and 10 would have been sufficient, as the reading of the sentence and his speech did not take five minutes....
